

Paying For Our Existence

A Gathering

How is it ever possible to pay for our existence? What is this statement trying to tell you? Is it a philosophical view we must reflect on? Why should we pay for our existence? After all, we do pay taxes. That should even the ledger.

There are innumerable ways of looking at this profound, yet very necessary statement. A universal scan of our lives quickly tells you that there are innumerable ways of examining this insightful phrase. A whole lot of topics come cascading down for your own illumination and its urgency of presence demands that you examine your life to a greater degree. You have been brought to this moment in time, where the gate of Higher Life beckons you to step in...

The phyletic stream of your ancestral voice echoes its hopes and wishes for you to transcend your limitation and assist in their growth process. And a biological principle magnifies this need to be exercised. Hence, there is that burning need to transform yourself from your current state of bankruptcy into a person filled with golden qualities. Yet, you must battle within to slay the monsters that blinds you to the Reality of Life.

Finally, it is with great excitement to respond to your soul's quest and visualise your uniqueness in discharging your debt to Mankind and to the Divine. Only then are you Real! The undertaking of this pathway leads to methods of inner development that will have you emanating like the Sun.
